Monthly Commentary

The Iza Global Balanced fund faced some headwinds during November which caused the fund to underperform the benchmark in both USD and GBP. The fund has however continued with strong performance on a year-to-date basis with returns of 8.19% in Sterling and 14.42% in US Dollars. The fund has outperformed the benchmark in USD year to date by 2.51%.

Gold rose by approximately 4.71% in November, closing near $4,220/oz—its fourth consecutive monthly gain and near all-time highs. Late-month strength coincided with rising odds of a December Fed cut and ongoing safe-haven demand.

The SPDR Gold Share ETF continued to surprise as it continued to produce another month of positive returns and positive contribution to the fund.

Scottish Mortgage was the largest detractor for the month of November. The Investment Trust producing a negative return of -8.94%. The negative performance was mainly due to the downturn in tech stocks, particularly following Nvidia's unexpected drop after previously strong earnings.

* Performance prior to 2 October 2020 is pro forma in nature and net of fees. Back-testing is a process of objectively simulating historical investment returns by applying a set of rules for buying and selling securities, and other assets, backward in time, testing those rules, and hypothetically investing in the securities and other assets that are chosen.

While back-testing results reflect rigorous application of the investment strategy selected, back-tested results have certain limitations and should not be considered indicative of future results. The results achieved in our simulations do not guarantee future investment results.

The portfolio may include underlying foreign investments, and may as a result be exposed to macroeconomic, political, foreign exchange, tax, settlement, reporting or illiquidity risk factors that may be different to similar investments in South African markets. The underlying foreign investments may also be adversely affected by foreign investment policies, restrictions on repatriation of investments and other restrictions and controls that may be imposed by the relevant authorities of the relevant countries. The CIS Manager reserves the right to close the fund to new investors if it is necessary to limit further inflows for it to be managed in accordance with its mandate. The TER charged by any underlying fund held as part of a fund's portfolio is included in the fund expenses portion of the TER, but trading and implementation costs incurred in managing the fund are included. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TER's. Transaction Costs (TC) is necessary in managing the fund and impacts the fund's return. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The Total Investment Charge (TIC) is the sum of the Total Expense Ratio (TER) and Transaction Costs (TC).
