Total Expense Ratio is the global standard used to measure the impact that the deduction of management and operating costs have on a fund's value. It gives you an indication of the effects these costs have on the future growth of your investment portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. Also, the current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs.

Quarterly commentary

South Africa's economy entered 2025 with modest GDP growth projections of between 0.5% and 1.5%. The pace of policy implementation, infrastructure improvements, easing inflation and interest rates, and efforts to address uncertainties related to stable energy supply and unemployment are among the factors impacting the growth potential of the economy. Eskom has made progress in reducing load shedding, and private sector investment in electricity generation has been positive. Cabinet has approved the South African Renewable Energy Master Plan (SAREM), a strategic framework aimed at accelerating the country's transition to a low-carbon economy through inclusive green industrialization. The plan targets the annual rollout of 3GW–5GW of renewable energy, alongside the creation of over 25,000 jobs by 2030. The Monetary Policy Committee lowered the repo rate to 7.5% in January 2025, boosting borrowing capacity and providing support to severely constrained consumers. However, strained relations with the United States could pose a potential drag on the growth outlook. President Trump issued an executive order to withdraw support for US aid agencies in South Africa, and the favourable trade agreement under the African Growth and Opportunity Act (AGOA) seems to be in jeopardy. The Minister of Finance withdrew his annual budget presentation to Parliament due to a lack of support from alliance partners within the Government of National Unity. This unprecedented move was necessitated by resistance to a proposed hike in the VAT rate. Investors remain cautious, awaiting the resolution of these unresolved issues.

Global real GDP growth is projected to remain stable above 3% in 2025, though below pre-pandemic levels. The resilience of the US economy, China's recovery, inflation trends, interest rate trajectories, and policy-driven uncertainties have all impacted global economic performance. Global inflation is moderating but remains elevated. Geopolitical risks remain high, compounded by President Trump's imposition of tariffs on the US's major trading partners. According to the Federal Reserve Board (FED), the US is expected to grow around 1.7% this year, supported by possible tax cuts and deregulation. The outlook for PCE inflation is projected to average 2.8% this year, recognizing the upside risks posed by US trade protectionist policies. The FED forecasts interest rate cuts of between 0.5% and 0.75%. Labour market constraints, the impact of tariffs, high levels of government debt, and the lagging effects of high interest rates could present challenges for the world's largest economy. Growth in the EU in 2025 is forecast to accelerate to between 1.0% and 1.2%, aided by easing inflation and interest rates. Recent announcements of increased defence and infrastructure spending in Germany could boost its economy and the broader EU region. Chinese authorities predict growth of close to 5% this year, following various stimulus packages to support local businesses and consumers. In the UK, overall GDP growth could rise to 1.7% in 2025, up from 0.8% in 2024, underpinned by household consumption and government spending. The EU economy experienced modest growth, supported by abating inflationary pressures and lower interest rates. Conditions appear favourable for a mild acceleration in domestic demand, despite heightened uncertainty.

Collective Investment Schemes (CISs) are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up, and therefore, the CIS Manager does not make guarantees with respect to the protection of capital or returns of the investment. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CISs are traded at ruling process and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. The portfolio may include underlying foreign investments, and may as a result be exposed to macroeconomic, political, foreign exchange, tax, settlement, reporting or illiquidity risk factors that may be different to similar investments in South African markets. The underlying foreign investments may also be adversely affected by foreign investment policies, restrictions on repatriation of investments and other restrictions and controls that may be imposed by the relevant authorities of the relevant countries. The CIS Manager reserves the right to close the fund to new investors if it is necessary to limit further inflows for it to be managed in accordance with its mandate. Investors in the Fund are not protected by any statutory compensation arrangements in Mauritius in the event of the fund's failure. A schedule of fees, charges, maximum commissions, and a detailed description of performance fee calculation and application is available on request. Performance numbers are sourced from Bloomberg. NAV to NAV figures have been used. Investment performance is for illustrative purposes only. Excessive withdrawals from the fund may place the fund under liquidity pressure and in such circumstances, a process of ringfencing withdrawal instructions and managed payouts may be followed. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, these will be included in the overall costs. Actual investment performance will differ based on the initial fees applicable, the actual investment date and the date of reinvestment of income. Instructions must reach the CIS Manager before 16h00 (MUT) 3 Business Days prior to the relevant Dealing Date. You can expect to receive withdrawal payouts five business days after valuation distribution. Dealing prices are calculated on a net asset value and auditor's fees, bank charges and trustee fees are levied against the portfolios. Performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, and the date of reinvestment. The investment performance is for illustrative purposes only. The investment performance is calculated after taking the actual initial fees and all ongoing fees into account. The reinvestment of income is calculated on the actual amount distributed per participatory interest by using the ex-dividend date NAV price of the applicable class of the portfolio, irrespective of the actual reinvestment date. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up. The CIS Manager does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. All CIS are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Income is reinvested on the investment date. The CIS Manager has the right to close the portfolio to new investors in order to manage it more efficiently in accordance with its mandate.

Mandatory cost disclosure as per the regulator: USD 3,750 recoverable in the first year from launch date (refer to prospectus). USD 6,750 p.a. Audit fee. USD 600 p.a. annual FSC fees. A schedule of fees and charges, maximum commissions and a schedule of similarities and differences is available on request from the CIS Manager.

Total Expense Ratio (TER) is calculated as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio incurred as charges, levies and fees in the management of the portfolio. The TER charged by any underlying fund held as part of a fund's portfolio is included in the fund expenses portion of the TER, but trading and implementation costs incurred in managing the fund are included. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TER's. Transaction Costs (TC) is necessary in managing the fund and impacts the fund's return. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The Total Investment Charge (TIC) is the sum of the Total Expense Ratio (TER) and Transaction Costs (TC).
